PRESIDENT AT WIRE

Returns to White House in Time for Bulletins.

JOINED BY SECRETARY ROOT

They Receive News in the Executive Offices-Cheered at West Philadelphia by University of Pennsylvania Students-Surprises Boys by Knowledge of Football-Waves a Good-by.

The President returned to Washington last night from Oyster Bay, where he went to cast his vote. Accompanying him on board his private car were Secretary Root and his son, Secretary Loeb, and Surgeon J. C. Pryor of the navy. Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the President's sister, and J. C. Speyer, of New York, came as far as West Philadelphia

The train stopped at West Philadelphia only for a few minutes, but it was long enough to afford forty or fifty boys from the University of Pennsylvania an opportunity to gather about the car and give their college yell.

The President at the time was engaged in conversation with Secretary Root, but as soon as he heard the yell he rushed to the rear of the platform and greeted the students. For a moment he talked football with them and displayed a knowledge of this year's events upon the gridiron which surprised the young men. As the train pulled out the President waved a good-by to the boys, and they responded with a rousing cheer

Talks Politics with Root. Asid from the student incident at West Philadelphia the trip from Jersey City to Washington was uneventful. The President discussed politics and public affairs var. Secretary Root throughout the greater portion of the journey. Upon reaching Washington he drove at once to the While Pouse, where Secretary

Loeb began work on correspondence. After the President had finished his dinner he was joined in the executive offices by Secretary Root, Postmaster General Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Bacon, and Civil Service Commissioner Cooley, who was congratulated on the splendid showing made in Westchester County,

FUNERAL OF DR. DAVID HAZEN

Funeral services over the remains of

Dr. Hazen was one of the best known physicians in Washington, and the news

Shears. Notice of funeral later.

The negro troops would never have been quartered at Fort Sheridan without a protest if I was to remain in command hereft said Col. Pitcher. I never like them, and the farther away from methey are kept the better it pleases me. For the life of me I cannot see why the United States chould try to make soldiers out of them.
